His Later Life.

After the war he returned to Richmond, to find his home broken up, his books, manuscripts and almost everything else he possessed destroyed. He then started out to look for work, and while passing along the road to Buckingham Court House he stopped at the home of a prominent man and there found employment as a gardener.

After serving in that capacity for some time he was recognized by several federal army officers as the distinguished musician of ante-bellum days, and they secured for him a position as a teacher of music fer young ladles. Subsequently he returned to Richmond and taught music there.

Professor Crouch took up his residence in Baltimore in 1871, and soon became prominent in musical circles and as a prominent in musical circles and as a teacher. As above stated, he composed about 2,000 songs, but lacked the business ability to make them pay, and the best-known of them all, "Kathleen Mayourneen," he gave away. The only benefit he reaped from the famous song was an indirect one. An Irish lad, impressed by its sweet strains, remembered them long after he had reached middle life, and abandoning his own name, took that of the old musician, becoming his adopted son, in Death of Adams, Who Fought the Burglars.

TRYING TO FIND WHO THEY ARE

A Wounded Man at the Long Island Hospital.

TWO WOMEN AT THE JAIL

NEW YORK, August 21.-Walker B. Adams, the storekeeper and postmaster at Bedford station, Westchester county, who was shot in an encounter with berglars Wednesday night, is dead. Nothing has been learned as to the identity of the two men whom Wm. Adams, the son of Walker B. Adams, shot, both men stolidly refusing to talk, although knowing that their wounds are more than likely to result fa-

Word has been received from Bedford station that the description furnished by the police of Brooklyn of the man who appeared at the Long Island College Hospital with a shattered arm does not tally with the appearance of the two burglars who escaped. As the man in the hospital has told conflicting stories as to how he came by his wound, and as some articles found on his person indicate a possibility that he is a housebreaker, the police will hold him for further developments.

One of the two prisoners, who is suffering from a rifle shot through the lung, said today that his name is Burns, afterward saying that it is Bryan.

Two women appeared at the jail in Mount Kisco, where the men are confined, and asked to see the wounded prisoners. They said that they were the wives of he prisoners, and wanted to converse with them. The women would not tell their names, and tried to conceal their identity. One of the women called the other Julia. and this woman said she was the wife of the man who called himself Burns or Bryan. They both called the slender burglar "Pete," and once referred to him as "Will," but they never mentioned the last names of either man. The women cried hysterically when they saw the men, and the latter also wept. "Pete" appeared very repentant, and said he was sorry for his part in the affair.

JOHN DALY'S TREATMENT.

Sensational Charges Made by O'Connor's London Sun.

LONDON, August 21.-Mr. T. P. O'Connor's Sun today publishes a column sensational account of the condition of John Daly, the Irish political prisoner, who was released from Portland prison yesterday afternoon. It says:

"Without forestalling what Daly will eventually divulge relative to his treatment, it is certain that Daly will be able to prove that the Irish dynamiters have been sub-Jected to indignities and punishment that the vilest criminals in her majesty's prisons have escaped."

> Frederick William Nicholls Crouen, whos death at Portland, Me., was announced in The Star of Wednesday, and whese interment takes place today at Baltimere, Md., where he had lived during the latter years of his life, was for a long time organist of St. Matthew's Catholic Church, Washing-

Although the deceased was a most remarkable man, being a fellow of the Royal Musical Society of England, doctor of music, a Druidic bard, a Mason, an expresident of the Maryland Historical Brotherhood, master of arts of seven different universities and the author of more than two thousand songs, yet he was known to fame only as the composer of "Kathleen Mavourneen."

He was born in Warren street, Fitzroy Square, London, July 31, 1808, and was consequently in his eighty-ninth year at the time of his death, which was entirely unlooked for, as his health was so good on his birthday, less than three weeks ago, that he celebrated the event with a grand

His Immortal Song.

Fame came to him on the melodiou choes of "Kathleen Mayourneen," a song founded on a story written by Mrs. Crawford, whose autobiography was then appearing in Capt. Marryatt's Metropolitan Magazine. Prof. Crouch said the strain came to him one day while riding along the banks of the Thames. He hastened home, and, with the aid of his violin, completed the melody.

The success of this tender and pathetic ballad was as spontaneous as it was last-ting, and it is said to have brought its Lon-den publishers more money than the whole of Crouch's other works combined. It was first song at a club of the literati of the mility, and its reception was so hearty as to lead to its being sung at all the leading to lead to its being sung at an the reading societies. FINANCE AND TRADE

Discussing the Importation of Gold.

CONFICTING OPINIONS IN REGARD TO IT

Dullness is the Feature of Speculative Operations.

GENERAL MARKET REPORTS

Special Dispatch to The Evening Star.

NEW YORK, August 21.-The transactions of the stock market today were characterized by definess, and the same state of featurcless trading that has been apparent during the whole week. It is simply a traders' market dominated by adverse conditions, financial, commercial, political or otherwise. The reports from London were slightly better today and show that the very unsatisfactory feeling that existed there yesterday, resulting from the movement of gold, has somewhat subsided, out from the prompt advance in the market price of gold builion, however, it shows that the precious metal will not be readily surrendered on the other side. This importirg of gold has caused much talk, favorable and otherwise, and while the undisputed valuation of the shipment this way has been a imitted in conservative circles, still on the other hand it has been condemned just as strenuously in another circle, and has been termed as a stockjobbing scheme and was not in any way warranted.

That it was not a job to influence stock has been firmly denied, and from a source that must undoubtedly be admitted as reliable. Although it is well admitted that these importations will not immediately show to a great extent toward a culmination of the present stress in the money market, still at the same time it is true that a continuation of gold shipments this way will tend to hop matters, which in this circle just at present are very bad. Owing to the lightness of the demand, foreign exchange was slightly weaker today, with actual rates as follows: Cable transfers, 4854,a486; demand, 4854,a4854, and sixty days, 48412a48134. London quotations today did not vary much from our final transactions, with the result that our initial figures were made with slight recessions.

The market continued to sag during the morning hours, and was helped along by a rumor to the effect that a financial institution was in trouble, which was denied, as usual, and then the market became somewhat better. what better. The weakness of Western Union was again very noticeable today, and selling from the same source of the past few days caused the stock to decline from 763-8 to 7418. Further talk in reference to whether the company was earning its dividend was again manifest. The granger roads continued to show weakness, and the reports of the July net earnings of these roads, which are due, will undoubtedly not help them toward an improvement. In the last hour the market declined, the bearish tactics of the traders being due to the anticipation of a bad bank statement tomorrow. Talk in Wall Street.

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, August 21.-Considerable uneasiness prevailed in Walf street today on account of the report of distress among the merchants and urgent need of financial relief. Estimates of a reduction of $3,-000,000 to $5,000,000 in tomorrow's reserve in the bank statement and of a corresponding heavy shrinkage in deposits encouraged the expectation of an early issue of clearing house certificates by the banks and it was reported that a meeting of the clearing house committee had been called to take action in the matter.

A representative of the Associated Press made a careful canvass of leading bank officials, and elicited a unanimous expression of opinion that there was no need for an issue of certificates at the moment, and that such an issue would only be mad case of extreme necessity. No meeting has been called to consider the issue of certifi-cates. A banker in close touch with the mercantile situation says that undoubtedly some of the merchants need money, but that most of the large maturities passed off all right at the first of the month, and that most of the weak concerns have al-ready been weeded out. A limited market is reported today for the choicest grades of mercantile paper at 8 per cent. Time money is an unknown quantity at 6 per cent and commissions.

A private cable reports an advance of 1-8 to 77s. 10½d. in the price of gold bullion in London, and that the Bank of England has sold for shipment to the United State has sold for shipment to the United States £200,000 in American eagles at 70s. 7½d. Lazard Freres say that they have engaged in all $2,500,000 in gold for import to this country. All of the gold comes from France, and $1,000,000 was shipped on the Normandie, which sailed yesterday. Every dollar of it will remain in New York.
